Dear Friend of ENLACE,

It was another remarkable year. We celebrated ENLACE’s twentieth anniversary, and it has been incredible to see how we have grown to 69 churches impacting over 166,261 people. This year we added 17 new church partners getting us closer to our 2015 goal of 100 churches serving 250,000 people. As a result, thousands of those living in poverty became connected to a local church that cared for them and addressed their needs.

You in partnership with local churches and communities in El Salvador, are the heart and soul of this organization. Your support has fueled this work and we are so thankful!

Thank you for believing in us and partnering with us by your donations, participating in a vision or service team, and letting others know about the transformation that is happening in El Salvador.

Your financial and prayer support has been essential, and we hope to continue this important work with your help throughout the coming years.

Sincerely,
Ron Bueno, Executive Director

“Too often the people [inside the church] see church as just another meeting...but we’ve begun to discover that church is a place where compassion results in service.”

The San José El Naranjo region is located in western El Salvador. Most residents make a lean living of $1 to $2 per day farming traditional crops or fishing and as a result, face issues such as a severe lack of waste management systems and latrines to limited access to healthcare and clean water.

Over the last three years, the number of churches that desire to partner with ENLACE to transform their communities has bloomed. In 2010, ENLACE worked with two churches. This year, ENLACE worked with nine! These churches are so passionate about serving that they formed a regional network that shares experiences and coordinates efforts. This region’s cohesiveness was displayed during a thanksgiving service late in 2013. More than 500 community members from all over the region and the mayor celebrated the year’s successes with representatives of all nine churches and ENLACE.

In this and many other regions, church pastors and members are breaking out beyond the four walls of the church and serving together with their neighbors. The momentum continues to grow as more and more churches step into their communities with open hearts and ready hands.

With Open Hearts and Ready Hands: The Momentum in San Jose El Naranjo

Going and Growing: Church Partnerships are Changing Communities in El Salvador and in Their Own Hometowns

In 2013 ENLACE worked with 24 churches from the U.S., Canada and Singapore to create strategic partnerships with churches in El Salvador. These long-term partnerships enable short-term service teams to have a deep and meaningful impact among extremely poor populations while also helping small, local churches to become more effective in alleviating poverty and encouraged as they serve their neighbors.

Not only does the collaboration of our international partners impact El Salvador, but they also experience and learn ENLACE’s approach and methodology, helping to inform and inspire ministry in their own contexts back home.
